

Introduction to Doss Edusodes

Welcome to the Doss Experience.

You are about to participate in a dynamic series of interactive educational episodes. In short we call them: Edusodes.

This new word is as unique as the process you are about to experience.

Each Edusode will demonstrate a positive character trait from the life of Medal of Honor recipient, Desmond Doss.

Each Edusode has three goals:

1. To define and demonstrate the character trait.
2. To develop that character trait in yourself.
3. To participate in a support system enhancing your personal moral compass.

You will be immersed in visually gripping and graphic aspects of Doss' experiences. These lead to interactive responses centering on specific points of decision. In short, a POD. You will develop personalized follow-up plans to practice and adopt each positive character trait in your own life.

Change requires three things: information, decision, and most important: follow-through. In order to be successful, there will be opportunities to work with a "battle buddy" to assist your personal progress. You can choose from four levels of interaction.

It is one thing to know about Doss.

It is quite another thing to....live like Doss.

Let's get started!
